The grand jury is still in session, but will likely adjourn today or tomorrow. It is said their investigations will cover some forty or more cases.

John Fisher, who fell down the elevator shaft at the Gordon & Alter store Friday night a week, is rapidly recovering and expects to be out again in a few days.

In another column of this issue of the Journal we reprint an elegant little poem from the pen of one of our former citizens, J. T. Lecklider of Indianapolis, Ind.

Quite a number of old soldiers of Greenville, members of the 94th O. V. I., attended the reunion of the survivors of that famous regiment, which was held at Troy last Thursday.

Frederick Roehm of this city has been employed to teach German in our schools, succeeding Miss Dorothy McKinney, who resigned to accept a like position in the Steele High School at Dayton, Ohio.

The Republicans of the Second Ward, Greenville, are hereby requested to meet on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Mose Crumrine's bicycle store for the purpose of nominating one Councilman and one Assessor, to be voted for at the November election.

ADELBERT MARTZ, Com.

A. H. Judy attended the National Corn Exhibit at Chicago last week. He reports a great exhibit of corn and that Ohio leads the world in the average per acre, which is 42½ bushels, while Darke county ranks first of the counties of Ohio, with an average per acre of a little over 47 bushels. Iowa heads the list of states having the largest number of acres planted.

S. V. Burley died at about 4 o'clock last Friday morning at his home on West Third street, after an illness of several months, aged about 78 years. He was a most estimable citizen, and for several years was engaged in the carriage manufacturing business in this city and at Union City. The deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Hart and Mrs. James Devor, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the residence, conducted by Rev. Jones, pastor of First Presbyterian church, with interment in Greenville cemetery.

The three chime bells for the M. E. church were placed in position in the belfry this week. They were purchased with a legacy left the church for that purpose in the will of Mrs. Sophia Koop, deceased, who was a lifelong member and an earnest worker in that church.

The Democrats, Monday evening, made the following ward nominations:

First Ward—Councilman, Wm. Fouts. Assessor, P. C. Isenhardt.
Second Ward—Councilman, T. B. Miller. Assessor, Vincent Brandon.

Third Ward—Councilman, V. G. Curtis. Assessor, Carl Deubner.

Fourth Ward—Councilman, F. M. Wolf. Assessor, P. T. Buchanan.

A resident of Independence, Kan., writing from Hawaii to the Evening Star of that town, has this to say of a young man who was born at New Madison, this county, where his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Otwell, resided prior to their moving to Kansas. The letter is dated Hilo, Hawaii, September 4, 1907.

"Yesterday at breakfast Captain Otwell and assistant engineer Burbanks sat down beside me when I thought they were in Honolulu. They are here making plans for the new breakwater. . . . Captain Otwell has the job of spending half a million of Uncle Sam's money making breakwaters, harbors, buoys and lighthouses. He is the busiest man on the islands; in fact, I think he is doing more good for Hawaii than any man on the islands. Everybody knows of him and what he says about any improvement goes."

The Historical Society met at the office of Attorney Katzenberger on last Friday evening. Business relating to the monument at Fort Jefferson was transacted; a memorial tablet of the Government building and marking the trail of Anthony Wayne through Darke county was discussed but no action taken on either. There was a large attendance of members of the Society. The president read a paper on his trip to Germany and other places, which was well written and interspersed with humor, and was well received by his hearers. Mr. Katzenberger brought home a Moorish cap and dagger, or curved dirk, also a spoon made of bronze from the ruins of Pompeii. The meeting was a most profitable and interesting one.

The American Boy for October.
Pau-puk-keewis, the Mischief-Maker, is the central figure of the two-color cover of the October American Boy, it being the third of a series of attractive Hiawatha covers this popular publication is running. The October American Boy will delight the boys; it is full of matter of interest to grown-ups, as well. There appears the first installment of a new serial pronounced by the Editor to be the best sea story published in recent years, entitled Jimmy Jones—Pirate, by Dr. Orville Ward Owen. The first chapters of another new serial, A Boy of the Revolution, by Arthur J. Burdick, also appear. There are many short articles, and pages filled with matter of interest to boy hobbyists along the line of athletics, stamp, coin and curio collecting, photography, mechanics, and electricity, puzzles, etc. In all there are 63 separate articles, illustrated by 56 pictures. One dollar a year. The Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Spite Spirit.
"John, dear, do you think we might pay a visit to your cousin Hiram on his farm this hot weather?"
"I don't know, Maria; these country cousins are so spiteful. Since we made him go to a hotel last winter when he was in town on business, I would not be a bit surprised if he was mean enough to charge us board."—Baltimore American.

A Day in Thebes.
Grand in her ruins, by the fruitful Nile
Lies Thebes, deserted, silent, eloquent.
Her hundred gates are gone:
Her arches broken,
Palaces and temples tenantless;
And yet, her stately grandeur
Still lives on.
Her mighty walls bear record
Of her glorious past, chiseled
In words, rich with the story
Of ambitious life.
Her eighteen thousand streets
Deepworn by restless feet,
Of more than thirty centuries ago,
Are trodden now and then by curious throngs
Who come, demanding from her
Silent halls and mummied dead
The story of her hearts that loved.
And wisdom out of withered brains
Seemed borne to me, from those
Who fill her tombs and left
Life's record chiseled on her stones.
Oh! Egypt, rich in treasures of the past,
Beautiful in art, in legend, love,
River and lotus bloom, I turn to thee.
What John from Patmos saw
Alone surpasses thee.
Indianapolis. —J. T. Lecklider.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Useful Mixture.

This recipe will take grease out of carpets, will remove paint when oil has been used in the mixing, and will not injure the finest fabrics. It is sure to remove bugs of all kinds if put in the crevices they inhabit. Aqua ammonia, two ounces; soft water, one quart; salt-peter, one teaspoonful; shaving soap, one ounce finely scraped. Mix well and let stand a few hours or days before using to dissolve the soap. Shake before using. When used pour on enough to cover any grease or oil that has been spilled, sponging and rubbing well, and applying again if necessary. Then wash off with clear cold water.

Cosmetic Jelly.

Cosmetic jelly has been found an excellent remedy for eczema. Take thirty grains of gum tragacanth and soak for three days in seven ounces of rose-water. Force through muslin to make the preparation smooth and add one ounce of alcohol, one ounce of glycerin and a suggestion of loric acid, say half a teaspoonful. The jelly is a preparation which has been found wonderfully fine for chapped face and hands. It is just the thing to use on the cuticle about the finger nails to keep it soft and in healthy condition. Soaking the finger tips in warm sweet oil is also an effective treatment.

Household Notes.

To remove dried tea stains apply equal parts of yolk of eggs and glycerin to the stain and allow to dry. Rinse well in clean cold water. This will be found excellent for an afternoon tea cloth which must not be boiled on account of its delicate coloring.

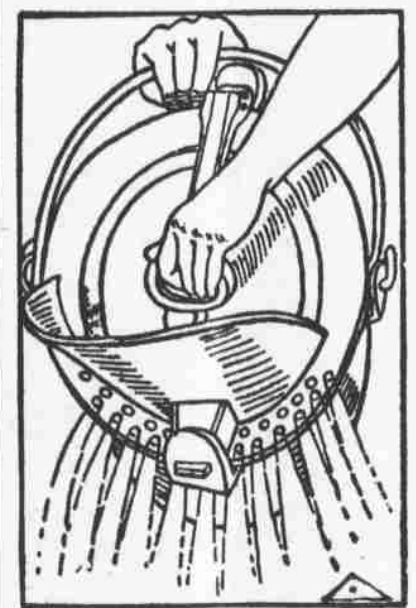

To clean finger marks on doors rub with a piece of flannel dipped in kerosene oil. The marks will disappear like magic. Afterward wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of hot water to take away the smell. This is also excellent for cleaning varnished hall doors.

Cookery Secrets.

In boiling all kinds of food skimming is most important. As the scum rises it should be removed, or both flavor and appearance will be injured. Remember, nothing should remain in the water after it is sufficiently cooked. Fish and vegetables are specially injured by this. Also when making very delicate light cakes that are not rich with butter it is best to use water instead of milk, as milk is apt to toughen in baking, while water, being neutral, makes crumb and crust soft and delicate.

Improved Cooking Kettle.

The busy housewife manages to burn or scald her hands so often that in time she becomes accustomed to it. Nevertheless the majority of such injuries could be avoided if more up to date cooking utensils like the one shown in the illustration—were used. The purpose of this cooking kettle will be apparent at a glance. It provides a utensil for cooking vegetables, etc., which after the cooking can be readily operated to drain off the boiling water without fear of scalding the hands. Along the front edge of the cover are perforations for the discharge of the water. The cover is also provided with a movable lifting handle, which normally holds the cover in position. Close to the perforations is a guard, which extends upward. This guard serves to effectively protect the hands from the steam issuing from the boiling water. With the aid of the regular handle and the cover handle the kettle is easily removed from the fire and tilted to discharge the water.

PROTECTS THE HANDS.

To Make Koumiss.

Into one quart of milk, sweet, put one gill of fresh buttermilk and three or four lumps of white sugar. Mix well and see that the sugar dissolves. Put in a warm place to stand ten hours, when it will be thick. Pour from one dish to another till it becomes smooth and uniform in consistency. Bottle and keep in warm place twenty-four hours, thirty-six in winter. The bottles must be tightly corked. Shake well five minutes before opening.
